

Guru Gobind Singh's Amrit

THE ETERNALISING LIBATION

By : Giani BRAHMA SINGH 'BRAHMA', AJMER

Amrit—Som—Sanjivni (Sanskrit); Homa (Zend)—life enduring sweet potions; (Aab-e-Heaven—Aab-e-Hyyaat—Ma-ul-Hyyaat Akseer (Arabic), life prolonging nostrum; Nectar (Greek)—beauty and life longevial beverage of gods and many more such a phraseology existent in this wide world in almost numberless dialects and languages of men: something which man has been thirsting for from the day of the dawn of human species for warding off death, life extinctive or oblitative dreadful agency to see that his own precious life and that of his own dear and near ones plus his own kine and cattle but nowhere these terms have been found purporting to mean, except life enduring causes, to add imparting the virtue of Chivalry—Shaureya—Kshatryata—Jurrat—which the peerless visionary Guru Gobind Singh's Amrit—Pauhal—Sanskrit Pahur—the gift—tahaaruk—from elders to the loved ones, mean in action. And my this a wee bit endeavour pleas before the worthy readers, the genesis and comparative uniqueness of this Pahur to appreciate the glory and greatness of that moajd-e-inventor, Saaqi-e (cup bearer) and Khaazn-e (Khazaanchi) Amrit Guru Gobind Singh and his Pauhal, that remains a challenge for those who exercise a Changzi to mankind.

And the Guruhani witnesses the only source of Amrit the Guru :—

Sur nar muni jan Amrit khaj-day So Amrit Guru tay paeeya.

And the Amrit which the gods, great men, sages and the God-realised souls hunt for that Amrit is gotten from Guru (the Enlightener), only.

And Guru Tegh Bahadur speaks of in unimhiguous terms of dreading death:—

Bhaey marbay ko bisrat nahin Teh chinta tan jaara.
This fear of death keeps clinging

This agony continue my being singing.

And see further how Guru Tegh Bahadur's only Kshatryatra packed son Guru Gobind Singh avowed to eradicate the dread of death from the body of his ummat—the followers.

Death—Yama—Israel—has been, all along, steering in the face of man for his annihilation and few, very few, have countinenced this terrible god smilingly. Immortality, deliverance, salvation, moksa, nijaat from the tentacles of Death is the inbuilt instinctive urge of human being; it is in interminable cry of man ethical or theistical, read any scripture of world faith.

Earlier in the Vedic Age, something like one thousand nine hundred and sixty million years, Elements of Nature were man's foes. He feared Mighty Agni with singing teeth; he dreaded Indra, the Weilder of Thunderbolt; he apprehended Maruti, the breather of storm and sleet against whose blowing heavens and earth shivered like a peepul leaf, he hegged Lord Varna whose paeans in praise he sang in uninhibited valleys and woods for the protection of himself and what he seemed to possess for transgression of his laws. They all sought for some sort of penances to save him. And beauty is his all these lamentation we now worship as unparalleled wisdom of Arayans, termed as Vedas, the Gyan—the Knowledge.

Somehow these belligerent elements became Aruras-devils and started battling against Deva—the virtuous. They began der churn-virtue the oceans—Ksir-Munthan—in search of some prophylaxis to plumb out the Amrit, an amrit turning potion. In this enterprise, they made Madhana—the churning lathe—of the mountain Meru. They made netra—churning rope or belt of Vasuki—Serpant god. Their harvest was mythical 14 Ratnas or jewels. This prized acquisition; oft mentioned in the Shastras, oft repeated on the church pulpit, yet never been seen by a mortal eye. The last and anxiously looked for product was Dhanvantri—the divine physician, who emerged carrying a gblid pitcher containing Amrit. This mystical nostrum, begotten of a the watery-womb, turned to be a disquietive agent and a hone of contention between the gods and their anti-gods. They fell out. The evil prevailed. The devils snatched and made away with the prized pitcher. The unquittous Karunakar—Merciful—Lord Vishnu, true to his godly tradition, incarnated as Mahini—the heavenly Bewitcher—and traduced the fickle minded devas with her easthetic grace. She got the vessel back with her prowess of uni-lateral arbitration to the sobbing and entrating devas. In this strife wherever the drops of Amrit fell on the surface of the, Dharti-Maata, the places became Tirtas—the Sarowars—sacred tanks—to wash the sins of the progeny of those gods and their foes or friends, call them what you please.

The fourteen Ratna—Jewels—are:—

(1) Ameya—Amrita—Nectar
(2) Vaarni-Shraab. Wine (3) Chandrmah—Moon (4) Kaama Dhenu—Eysian Cow (5) Uchasava

Ghar Sublime Horse (6) Airavat Haathi—G-j Raj—King Elephant (7) Bikh-Zahar—Poison (8) Lazmi—Wealth (9) Dhanvatri—Physician (10) Khushtiak Bani—Jewel (11) Gaandive Shankh Conch (12) Kalap Brikh—Toobi—Elysian Tree (13) Rambha—Nymph (14) Sarang Dhanesh—Bow.

Please mark the mythical romanticity of this Hindu Amrit which has never been tasted from that day lost in memory shrouded anti-quity.

Earlier two and a quarter millinoia ago, Alexander the Great, after his proud profession of being a World-Victor, felt deeply inquisitive and keenly thirsty to take a sip of Aab-e-Hewaan to defy the dreadful Death to embrace immortality to enjoy the fruits of unmatched callisthenics of his sword ingenuity and fertility of his brain. After a wise counsel, he sought for Hazrat Khizar (ever green or accepted to have been renewing his life every five hundred years Semitic belief) the mythical custodian of Aab-e-Hewaan. After subjecting himself to an arduous and hazardous intermonable journey, in an defined span of time, they succeeded in locating the pool of Aab-e-Hewaan, in the dark deep caves of the Caucasian mountains. Much to Alexander's horror and mortification, his enthusiasm to his immortality, was called when he sighted a numerous crowd of human beings, immobile and inert, earlier tasters of the elixir, lessness, and torpor, awaiting in painful contrition for the last Day of Reckoning for their ultimate Deliverance. In fact, they were in Berzckh. Only their hearts heave with Prana—breath, to show they were living. Of course, true to its professed efficaciousness a sip of the Aab-e-Hewaan had bestowed on them coveted eternalised existence but it had rendered them divorcees of all manav—manly—virtues which make a man self, reliant for him and his kith and kin, plus the society around him. Alexander returned empty handed to face Death as a man which he encountered on his back journey after his utter disappointment with Porus, king of the Panchal Desh—Punjab, in the year 323 B.C. A Persian couplet well summons up this event :—

Tahi dastaan-e-qismat ra che saod az rahebr-e-kaamil Keh Khizr az Aab-e-Hewaan tishna labb aarad Sikandar ra

What hoots a luckless man even from a perfect guide

When Khizr brought Alexander thirsty back from the Amrit Pool.

Please mark the mystic hunt of Semetic Elixir and its inefficacy.

This is how the ancients were supposed to have come by their most unscientific and mysterious nectarean draught—Amrit Aab-e-Hewaan which probably no mortal lips had ever sipped.

We now come to know of the Amrit which was a living actuality packed with spiritual and temporal forces and dynamism, a sip of which turned sparrows into hawks and jackals into lions. It was a visible history and no fiction. It was meaningful Punar-Janam—rebirth—twice bornship (explanations later) and Maulana Jalaluddin Rum-born 1207 A.D. founder of Maulana Sufi Silsilah of Whirling Dervishes in his Mathanavi Maanvi—a Qura'n in Pahlavi sings :—

Chun dayam baar adam-zaada bizaad Paayeh khud bar kharq-e- illatha nihaad

When a man is born twice He plants his foot on habits evil.

This Khalsa Amrit neither led to dissension nor to any stupidity or torpor. This never turned any mortal thirsty. It was here a complete transformation: a real shedding off the old and putting the new—not merely a jamaal but Jalaal also; a physical ringing out

And incidently it was a New Year Day of Baisakhi :

Vaisaakh bhala sackha ves- karey

When the entire arhoreal kingdom refledges itself in fresh foliage, flower and fruit, this Amrit was researched and administered by a Divine Psychia—trist Guru Gobind Singh—the Dispeller of Darkness—Gana Dhaara—Faujaan Waala.

Guru Gobind Singh from his vast and intensive study of Aryan and Semetic negiological lore for a period of over a decade at Paonta—Paonthan—in its sylvan and reparean surroundings, on the banks of Jumna, came to the novel decision of reconstructing the eternalising potion—Amrit—on the analogy of the Shiva Purana's ancient Saagar-Manthan as earlier depicted. The great visionary, in reverence to the Divine Delegation.

Sant Ubaaran-Dusht Sangham Uplift of the virtuous and decimation of the devilish

Aimed at the nostrum which in addition to its potency of man's spiritual metamorphosis, its result must equally be efficacious for the rejuvenation and regeneration of the chronic socially and politically afflicted and paralysis Hindu masses. It was all a single handed enterprise. Symbolically of the Meru, he used his double-edged-All-Steel-Khanda (sword) and churned it as Madhana in pure water in a All-Steel Baata, Bowl representing the great Saagar, infusing it with the intonation of with Divine Word-Kalam-e-Elahi-Guru-Vaani of his great Guru ancestors combined with his own universal martial poetic compositions. Guru's divine consort Mata Sahib Devan, fully conscious of the true Vedic Yagna observances was not behind to add his part and added Pataasas—sugar puffs—to the stirring water sweetening it to impart sense of love and harmoniousness in the community of its users. And thus the Pauhal-Amrit was ready.

And the great Messenger of hitherto unknown Logos-All-Steel-Sarh-Loh—the Indestructible Steel-sang out.

Akaal Purakh ki rachha hamnay

Sarb Loh ki rachha hamnay

O Thou the Timeless: I am in Thy refuge

O Thou All-Steel: I am in Thy refuge.

And the readers may please know that like wool to Jainism, Loha-Iron utensils were untouchable to Hindus and the Great Innovator not only invented his Amrit to bring Untouchable mankind but also to be one with higher classes sanctified their untouchable utensils which only the poor humanity can now use with pride and love. What a rare Man now walked on the Earth with those whom the great Bhadra Aryans dreaded even to touch.

The Great Washer of the sins of mankind, had invited all Nanak-Panthis—Nanak's Ummat (followers) from every nook and corner of Bharat-Hindustan—with living faith, on the Baisakhi Day, to re-inforce the Charan-Pauhal, customarily ministered by earlier nine Gurus. It was a unique novel experiment for the retrieval of the lost glory and the greatness of the rich spiritual and temporal heritage of the Aryan-Hindus and to enable them to relive in the sunshine and glow of their ancient lore and culture.

Unknown in the annals of mankind earlier, here was a General, a meaningful scion of the ancient Surya-Mula, the direct descendent of Karyada-Puroshotam Sri Rama Chandra—the fortieth descendent of the Great Ikshvaku and like that of the Great Messia-Jesus-the Christ, the descendent forty-second of the descendent of Adam—the First Man, unassisted by any mortal but only the Maha-Akalika, rose on his pulpit to ferret and glean out of the mammoth concourse of serfs and dregs of the Hindu reer-heen—spinless society, grains of some residue chivalry to rebuild his soldiery who could be a monolithic challenge, with a small sip of his Amrit, to the great Mughal Empire, the perpetrators of unending hegemony of its spiritual, social and political bondage. And equally in whose self-esteemed eastimation a Hindu was a Duzd (thief) and Kafir (unbeliever). To this congregation of merely 80,000 inquisitive and awe struck humanity, Guru Gobind Singh repeated Guru Nanak's message to test if it lived still in his Ummat:—

Jau tau prem khelan ka choo
Sir dhar talee galee meri aao

It marg peir dhareejay Sir deejay kaan na keejay.

Would ye long to sport the game of love

Pop in my lane with thy head on thy palm;

If this path ye chance to tread

Shove in thy head: with any tear washed.

And as the holy Qura'n earlier spoke:—

"And we never sent a messenger save with the language of his folk, so that he might make his message clear for them. Allah sendeth whom He will astray, and guideth whom He will. He is the Mighty and the wise (Sura-XIV).

Guru Gobind Singh made home to them in the language of the folk, they understood, and in the chivalric mudra gestures, their eyes could suck, explain how their earlier preceptors—Guru forefathers, for nver 200 years, poured their blood in consonance with the prevelant shastric teachings in their sanguine and sincere hopes and faith that the alien rulers would be emanable to the call of the Truth and Wisdom and realise the folly of their bigotry and fanaticism but to no avail.

The Great Psychiatrist when he measured that his exhortations had breathed through the veins and hearts of the congregation and their faces gleamed with reflections of favourable reaction, with lionly roar he drew his shimmering Bhawani—sword—and demanded balidan—sacrifice of one head to be a foundation block for the edifice which he had planned to build a new to damn the current of Zulum cathericing clean all their ancient eviable heritage. On repeat demands five brave men of different sections of the Hindu society and geographical location offered their heads—their prized possessions—one by one, singing with Hafiz, the great Sufi Saint of Shraz:—

Zahey qismat keh Hafiz rust as duneya-o-aqba Na sayad heich dar chashmash bajuz khakay-sar-e-kuuat.

It is the pluck of Hafiz that He is delivered from here and hereafter
His gaze now loveth nought But the dust of Thy lane.

But here was not the dust of the Beloved's lane but the razor sharp double-edged khand of the Divine Beloved that licked the heads of the lovers.

Before Guru Gobind Singh commenced ministration of his Amrit to the brave profferers of their heads, he ordered fresh water to be fetched from the ancient Satudra (Satluj) in a metallic vessel (gaagar). He washed his lotus feet in the water, recited the ardasa—his orison—tightly sealed the wash back into the gaagar: ordered it to be carried back and buried deep in the river, meoing that the ritual of charan-pauhal current since the days of Guru Nanak (1469-1529 A.D.) founder of Sikhism—the undefatigued lamenter of alien bondage of Hindustan—had ceased to be legal tender thenceforward and stood replaced with Khand-e-ka-Amrit:—

Nij charan pakhaal gaargray daara Kar band lakhota muhar sir kara Sutadrava maahein amaanat dhara Khand-e-ki-pahul hukam kara.
(Mehma Prakash)

His lotus feet in the water he did bathe
And back the wash in the vessel paid;
He closed the vessel and had it sealed
And ordered it back in the Satluj laid:
Khande-ka-Amrit he did administer anew
And demonitised his elders' custom decayed.

Charan dhooye rahraas kar charanamrit Sikhan palaava (Bhai Gurdas)

Washing the feet, the washcharan-Amrit—was ministered to the Sikhs-mureeds.

Guru Gobind Singh, thereafter, brought the five chivalrous souls who had proffered their heads in the cause of righteousness imbued with faith and nonchalance for life in front of his pulpit draped in Pitambar Vastram—yellow robes—bedecked with long kirpan, an inseparable Sacrament a relic of Holy Con-venant—a symbol of Bay'tbetween the Guru and the Sikh aloog with four other taburrucks— pahurs—gift of Keshas, (unshorn hair), Kangha (comb), Kara (steel bracelet and Kachha (shorts-under wear), before the anxious and searching crowd for his novel baptismal-Amrit-Puner-Janam-Pahul Chhakna—Peeaa pahul khande dhaar hoeye janam suhela—rite.

He gave baptismal potion five time to drink, five times he sprinkled into their eyes, and five times he poured it on their lush head hair, one after the other. He imparted to them Guru Nanak's mystic Word-Logos—Waheguru—the unfailing Naam Masile and giving them re-birth, and renamed with the title of Singhs-Lions.
This catheteric process rendered them washed of all sins with which they were shown to have been born and other pathological ills and rendered then immune and fearless to embrace Death with smile on their faces. They were no Jivan Muktas—Living Redeemed-Death would be for them a thing of mockery. Their inner longings for the Dharma Yudh—to free their mother land and their religion from the Yavan hegemony at the beck and call of the Guru was uppermost. They were ecstatic with Mukh mein Naam chit mein yudh bichaarey— Waheguru in their lips and thought of dharma-yudh in their hearts.

The residue of Amrit in the bowl was given to all the five Peaaras to drink collectively.
They, thus, all welded into one whole-spirit de corpse—to shoulder every burden of the country and faith collectively. It is a biological verity that the linkage through ling and mukh mouth and sex is the most cohesive and unfading relationship.

And how the Upanishids define Jivan Mukta—Salvation in life which consists in the attainment of salvation and freedom, by being endowed with the wealth of Gyan—knowledge and understanding of the Truth, and in seeing and considering everything of this world as one, inscribing to God and not to ones self, all deeds, actions, movements, behaviours, whether good or bad, and in regarding one self, together with all existing objects as in complete identity with the Truth.

And length and space are handicaps for me to show how the Panj Piaras—five Beloved Ones—who were baptised as described above were in word and deed in total consonance with Upanishad's eternal teachings.

And believe me each word of Gurubaani - Kalam - e - Rabbani-Shabd-e-Rammami stirred by Murshid-e-Kaamil, Poaran Guru with steel against steel with his vision on his All-Steel mystically generated into the sweet water begotten in the psyches of the Sikhs or Piaras thousands, thousand different currents and waves of diverse colours and Tejaseya—alchemy—hot, warm, cold, sweet, piquant weaving within themselves like that of the oceanic currents racing restlessly under the sea surface, invisible to human eye, of Shauraya and Shaheedi, Chivalary and Sacrifice and opened within their Antah-karna—heart of the heart—biggest libraries of the knowledge of unread books which they otherwise would imbibe never, never, never in their human lives.

And this miracle maker was the Pahul of the Dassam Guru.
Alas—Alghiaas: we the ungrateful now care little.

The Five Piaras—Five Beloved Ones—were the nucleus of Order of the Khalsa—The Pure and Waheguru's own the New Faith—Teesra Panth—Mid Way —the Identity of Prusha—the Primeal Man—run extinct from the surface of the earth. This discipline was most becoming and sine-qua-nan for the sake of building into a nation and its solidarity. This dispensation was a monumental testament to the gratness of the Prophet and the excellence of his unique thought and its action Guru Gobind Singh univocally pronounced the aim of his mission

Raaj bin nehn dharma chaley hai

Dharma bins sabh daley muley hai.

Would it need for the Dharma to stay

Weild thy hand on the hilt of Power;

Our Cosmos may fall to chaos and Qyaamat

When Dharma Pillars may welk and sway.

And the readers well know that even world faiths Jainism and Buddhism which claimed Ahinsa Parma Dharma—nonviolence cardinal creed—fell like humpty dumpty when their Rajas and Maharajas political power fell to Hindu revivalist loss under Shankracharya's political upheaval.
Shankracharya conquered with word-might than with the assistance of political might which he stirred to the end. Mahatma Gandhi a Jain himself failed to see the truth in this axion when he called Guru Gobind Singh, a misguided hero.

Spiritual living which is essential for a man's redemption and salvation-maksha-nijaat—is a possibility only with the circumstantial temporal power.

Dharma rakshati rakeshtah—Hanto hantah

When Dharma—equity and equality—is upheld—it protects. When it is destroyed, it destructs.

Until Bhakti is blended with Shakti, its defence is a case of negation.

Here was exercised the Cosmic Evolutionary Energy with which the Guru was inforced with his Divine Ordainment on the Sapat Sring—Seven Summits of Hem-kunt mount before his incarnation on this earth.

Sant Ubaaran Dusht Sanghaa-ran

Evolving the Righteous and devolving the vicious.

The ministration of Amrit— the drugs of life and valor was a re-experiment in regeneration of Kshateryata since Lord Krishna's sermon to Arjan on the battlefields of Kurakshetra, in the Dwapar Yuga—nearly 5000 years before. It is a thing of amazement and lamentation that for centuries it was only for Guru Gobind Singh to recreate some regenerative alchemy for the masses without waiting for mental or physical guidance or help from any one else. On the contrary he encountered mighty opposition in the commission of his endeavour from his own fellow men.

Some skeptics to belittle the divine effort of the Guru ascribed this rare experiment to be the prototype of the Agnikul Theory of the Origin of the Rajputs on the mount of Abu (Rajasthan) analogising it with the Guru's demonstrative Yagna experiment on the mouot Naina Devi, near Anandpur Sahib. But the accredited historian codemns this view.
Swao's History of Ancient India reads:—

"Rajputs believe that they were born of the sacred Fire that was kindled on Mount Abu. First of all Chandra Bardai set forth this story in his Prithiraj Raso.
According to him when Prashurama had destroyed all Kshatrayas and there was no one left to protect the Brahmans, they assembled and performed a yagna on the Mount Abu. They kindled the sacred fire and prayed to God to produce a brave class to protect them. In response to their prayers the four great heros sprang out of the sacred fire. These four heroes founded the four great Rajput families Oarmars—Farihars— Chalukeyas and Cbauhans.

This is not admissible to many and taken to be falacious and fabricated to glorify Rajputs.

It was the most significant deed of this unique Prophet that unlike earlier Gurus, Ambia, Messengers, Aulia, Avatars and Reformers of mankind, this True King—Sacha Padshah—the Dispeller of Darkness, true to his mystical novel performance, presently, shorn of all due pre-eminence, mighty yet humble—in all humility spirit born, kneeled himself before the Panj Piaras, begged of the Amrit initiation from their sanctified and pious hands to make him indistiguisha-ble and unidentifiable from the Khalsa to which he had given birth a short while ago. Here was the veritable equation, mathematical merger of the Guru with his Chela. A Fina-fi-Mureed contrary to Sufistic Fina-fi-Murshid.

Wahe-wahe Gobind Singh—Aapay Guru Chela
(Bhai Gurdas II)

Hail, Hail—Gobind Singh Guru and Chela now one.
Oonha sam Thakur-sam chera

There Swami and Sewak are indistiguishable.

Jaithay neech smaaileyen Thitay nadar taeri bakhsees

Where there is caressing of the lowly

Thy graceful eye, O Lord: reach pronto.

These Panj-Piaras were now onwards mighty leaders of the Guru's Khalsa—Militia—Sant Sipahi—Here were the plebian made primates. Here were the unfortunates, mercilessly and heedlessly cast-away from the high, made to rub their shoulders with those who had sprung from the Head of Brahman—the Brahmans. They need not seek and plead for chanting Vedic Hymn, forbiden for them and unintelligible, even to those who professed to be the owner thereof. They own Universal Veda—Guru Granth Sahib—now. It engendered a genuine pride in them that their new Veda contained vaani of their own elders sans any discrimination. Here were the wordlings recast in the very identity of their heavenly Guru.

There was an air surcharged with wonder and inhalation. The fragrance of valour, equanimity, fraternity encompassed the entire surroundings. Here were caterpillars metamorphosed into butterflies that dazzled the eyes of the skepticles. Here was the fall of outer husk. It was a new transparent dauntless spiritual entity.
Here were the lessers souls sour-ing to the Cosmic heights. There was no going back. Here was an open challenge to the mighty Mughal Empire that like the amervela-cusucuta—had dejuiced every lush plant of Hindu vegetation that came under its sway or spread. It was a signal single handed enterprise of the divine entrepreneur in catheretising the impurities of all social, economical, political and clerical orders, bougeoisious and the proleteriat societies nearly three centuries ago when no other helper could dare to reach them.

An in the words of Dr R.C.
Mazumdar, India's illustrious historian :—

"No-body in India ever succeeded in removing the distinction of caste and creed to such an extent. In particular no one before him and after Guru Gobind Singh has established such a complete body by fusing together. Hindus and Muslims as he did by bringing them in the common fold of the Khalsa. It is a unique example in Indian history and Guru Gobind Singh deserves the highest tribute of praise and appreciation of the Indians for the wonderful example of integration of different peoples of India which he accomplished. He succeeded where even Akbar the Great failed.

And this unfading glory was a Marvellum Tremandum of Amrit-Drug of Love-Life and Strength which made evasion of death, a thing of non-event.

The abject state of the Hindu life which Guru Gobind Singh's Amritdhari inherited and put their hand at the hilt of their Khandas to relieve it can be seen from the following 20 Dont's promugated under Fatwa-e-Jahandari :—

1. They (the Hindus) can not build a house, a temple or an idol
2. Their destroyed building, they can not build again 3. A Musalman can live in a temple
4. Stay of a Musalman in a Hindu household can be objected
5. An idolator was disallowed to serve as a reporter 6. If an idolator offers to accept Islam, he can not be stopped to do so.
7. A Musalman must be given maximum respect
8. A Musalman can freely go into congregation of the Zimmis

9. Zimmis are prohibited to don a dress like that of a Musalman.

10. A Hindu can not name his children as that of a Muslim

11. A Hindu can not ride a horse.

12. A Hindu can not keep a sword, a bow and an arrow

13. A Hindu can not put on a ring bearing insignia

14. A Hindu can not sell wine or any such intoxicants

15. A Hindu's dress must be quite different from that of a Musalman

16. A Hindu can not preach his faith of their gods and goddesses

17. A Hindu can not build his house in the vicinity of Muslims

18. The Hindus can not take their dead near the grave yards

19. The Hindus can not cry aloud on the death of their kith or kin

20. A Hindu can not buy a Muslim slave.

Non-Musalman lived as Zimmiz tax or jazia payers for State protection of their lives and properties. This had to be paid in person by the head of a family to the local Qazi or Tax-Collector irrespective of his social or political status to give a feeling to him to being a Zimmi.

(hase-Sir Jadunath Sircar's "Sources of Indian Tradition")

The Mughal hatred for kafirs in India was immeasurable. There were 27 Mughal Emperors in India between 1526-1857 A.D. who issued coins.

"Aurangzeb forbade the use of Kalma in his coins. He thought that the Holy words of Kalma would be defiled as the coins would pass into the hands of kafirs (non-Muslims) So the Kalma vanished for ever from Indian coins"

(Mughal Coins" —hy Dinesh Mody.)

And these Amritdharis who were imparted strength to battle one against a lac and a quarter proved the validity of True Guru's word in letter and spirit:—

This is how the 18th century British Historian James Brown in his history—"History of the Origin and Progress of the Sikhs" —London 1788 A.D. II Edition" describes the Sikh chivalry while giving account of III battle of Panipat, fought on 14th January, 1761 A.D. between the Marhattas and Ahmad Shah Abdali, the Afghan invader,

"In the battle the invaders carried the day and along with that also 5000 women of high brahman caste. Though the Sikh were not a party to the dispute, they found it hard to swallow the bitter part of the Marahatta women being transported to Afghanistan. While the invaders on their way back home, were crossing the Bias in Punjab, they fell upon them and rescued as many as 2200 young woman.
Later they delivered them safely to their homes in Maharashtra about 1500 k.m. away. James Brown further tells that while the women folk rode all the way on their hnses, the Sikhs were content to walk along side"

Guru Gobind Singh's spiritualised dynamic cry that his one Amritdhari would hold against a lac and a quarter the experiment so proved that Guru Sahib himself and his forty Sikhs were attacked on the Khidrana lake, now Mukatsar by Imperial forces comprising ten lacs. The fact has been described by Guru Gobind Singh in his Persian letter. Zafar Nama (Missive of Victory to Aurangzeb in Deccan:—

Gursana cheh kaare kunad chehal nar Keh deh—lakh bar aayed barobe-khabar
What would forty famished troops do When unaware a million mughal militia fell upon them?

And this irreducible Kshate-yata energy of Pahul lived all along to the year 1984 passing through many events of bravery through Misal times, Sikh Raj and British Raj. What happened during the unforgettable Blue Star embattlement is a very eventful tale. To contain one Amritdhari, Sant Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale, our government had to employ the world's most powerful force, under misguidance of military managers when bringing out one man was totally no problem for the military force of the world's largest democracy. Many would not agree with Sant Bhindranwale's action yet eternally lamentable history shaped in attacking Sikh Holy of Holies-Harimandir and Akal Takhat reduction to dust on 3rd to 7th June, 1984. I quote from prestigious English monthly India Today June 16-30, 1984.

"Crackdown in Punjab Operation Blue Star was the biggest and most significant counter action undertaken anywhere in the world.

Attacked by men of 10 Guards under Lt. Col. Mohammad Israr regarded as some of the finest troops in the world and trained specially for the assault role.

They were an impressive lot, a hundred lean wiry men, many of them officers, all in jet black duggarees. For the first time in the history of the Indian Army, one of the youngest units, the Commanders, was preparing to go into action. They suffered heavy casualties of the 40 who were in three were killed and nineteen were wounded despite their bullet proof jackets "That was a fiery baptism. We did not do badly," recalled one Commando later.

Here were the Amritdhari Khalsa grown oversize with razor-sharp Kirpans—Sri Sahibs—hung by their sides giving them the feeling, which they loved to suck again and again through the agency of their organ of vision and touch that all their mortal fears are no more. They now were sped on to the battle field with the sense of Swa lakh se eik laraon "Can make hattle one against a lac and a quarter—opposite to those whose Allah permits twenty steadfast of them to overcome two hundred and if they are hundred steadfast they can overcome a two thousand and even a weaker one thousand steadfast can defeat two thousand of disbelievers.

The Holy Qura'n reads as under:—

O Prophet: Exort the believers to fight. If there be of you twenty steadfasts they will overcome two hundred, and if there be of you a hundred steadfast they shall overcome a thousand of those who disbelieve, because they (the disbelievers) are a folk without intelligence.

(Sura VIII-65)

Now hath Allah lightened your burden, for he knoweth that there is a weakness in you. So if there be of you a steadfast hundred they shall overcome two hundred and if there be of you thousand steadfast they shall overcome two thousand by permission of Allah. Allah is with the steadfast,

(Sura VIII-66)

There was a fulness of hope and insurance of purpose in the New Order. Their angle of vision underwent a total transformation. Their perpetual dread and nightmare of torture at the hands of their own Churchmongers and the ruling clan were fading. They were now part of the uncrackable whole and not a part of an organisation which was mere shreds. They had picked up the confidence that their dirty tongues would be unchopped, their ears would be unplugged. They could read and listened Sacchi-Bani and there is now no low door entrance but four wide open doors from all directions for obscurity to their Guru's Temple. No more devout Namdevs would be dubbed a dog and kicked or killed and thrown out from their Beethal's House.

Sood sood kar maar uthaayo kaha karoy baap Beethala

They have dubbed me sudra-sudra

And have beaten me out from you temple

O my Father Beethal—What should I do now?

They could now gallop on a robust steed—a Taan Turi Changery—a lovely Arabian mare—They could now don a Dustaar turban, matching a Pathan or Mughal opponent. There was no fear for them to wear a pair of shoes. They could now spit back on the face of a mighty Mughal and their sanctified mouths with Amrit would no more be shed into a spittoon for the dirty mucus of a hideous Pathan or Sayyad. The shivering fear of contemptuous Mughal would no more make a Namadeva sprint behave his mare with a load of his foal and transcend into a poor Hindu the sense of vision of Lord Krishna with a beautiful turban and sweet tongue peregrinating to Dwarka Nagri when the presence of a malechha (Mughal) was a sacrilege in the locality of the Holy City Dwarka Nagri. The black days of royal tigerism and official doggishness and nail-lacerations by the lesser hierarchy of the dumb Hindu masses, were the things of the past now. It was a case of certitude that the so-called lesser humanity, the untouchables, would not now screech and sprint off not to be a sight for a higher horn brahmin, hiding themselves behind a well or a tree or stretch low to be one with the mother-earth, lest their shadow polluted the high-born. The Hindu generations of this day would hardly imagine the miserable and despicable state of their forefathers and would hear no shame to dub Guru Gobind Singh as not being a one hundred part of Swami Dayanand.

This unholy utterance was from the mouth of sacrilegious Pandit (actually Khatri) Gurudat M.A., at the Arya Samaj's annual functions, 11th year 24th-25th November, 1888 A.D. Lahore, with force of his lung power he cried out "Guru Gobind Singh was not even one one-hundredth part of our Maharshi Dayanand Saraswati. The Sikh have Dharm but their Gurus had no Vidya (learning). (See "Aimaal-e-Arya" (Urdu) 1889-Lahore).

The Amrit-dhaaris were the votaries of the lofty dispensation of Degh—Cauldron, Tegh—Sword and Fateh—Victory and as such they firmly believed in unplugged earning with their sweat, communal sharing and selfless service to humanity Kirat karni—wand chhakna and Sewa nehkaama. They were now Saiede Pahalwaan-ray—Knight-Errants of the Lord and they exploit none and dread no exploitation from others. They would frighten none and fear none in the words of Guru Tegh Bahadur—Bhaey kuhoon ko det nahn—neh bhaey maanat aan. They now held the Grand Charter of Freedom and shielding the meek and the powerless. Hindus or non-Hindus were their charge. Their womenfolk were now in the protection of the Singh of Guru Gohind Singh, and onward would not embellish the harems of Mughal and Pathan satraps. Their helpless women would no more be a marketable merchandise in the hedious markets of Gazni and Baghdad.

They were, onwards, crusaders of righteousness carrying a shibboleth of Sarbat-ka-bhala—Peace for All—and Chahrdi-Kala. Faith Unnerved—and this all in the name of Guru Nanak, the founder of the faith.

And the great Guru who was provenance of this unparalleled glory and rejuvenation of the Hindu society, we must read from the unbiased pen of Pandit Daulat Ram of Jehlam, unprejudiced Arya Samaj activist of the undivided Punjab:—

"No one could assert that Rama's campaign against Lanka was unmotivated by the considerations of his love of his divine consort: patriotism had not in any influenced his marches and sufferings.

Krishna's exploits were undertaken on a revengeful spirit. His activities having been influenced by a spirit of personal vendetta. Kansa was killed by Lord Krishna as the former was planning to efface the whole dynasty of the latter and more particularly to remove the Lord from the face of this earth.

In measures of patriotism the Guru had partaken and left Krishna behind.

Shankracharya gained his power over Buddhism for he had the strength of force of the Kshatrijas to aid him in his mission of Hindu revival. With Guru Gobind Singh, Hindu Rajas, were inimical fearing that they would lose their kingdom if they revolted against the Mughal throne. Emperor Aurangzeb himself was all out to oppose him.

Prophet of Islam had only a few clans of Quresh community inimical to him. The understanding Jews of Medina proved helpful. Here there was place in India where this Prophet of Wahdeyaa and non-Idolatry could live peacefully. Even his foes tracked him to the last day to stab him for his visaal-milaa—with his Mitra-Pearay—Beloved Friend.

And the great seer and philosopher of this century Aurobindo says of the spectacular national building and Amrit dispensation pre-eminence of the great Guru:—

"The Sikh Khalsa was an astonishingly original and sound creation and its face was turned not to the past but to the future. A very striking instance of democratic institution towards making a compact nationalism: its long line of Gurus and the novel directions and form given to it by Guru Gohind Singh.

The whole night long there was a fierce fighting. The extremists living on generous supplies of roasted gram and shakaparas stood at various strategic points underground.

"Let us face it. What we fought in Amritsar was not a battle against a stray bunch of hoodlums. It was against Khalistan." (said some of the army)

Already quick to adjust their tactics with the discovery of the new resolve and fire power in the temple, the generals again changed tactics. This they realised that the use of "K" vehicles—as tanks and armoured personnel cars were called in army parlance, had now come inevitable if the war was to be won.

June 5-Army gunners again got down to the job of softening up the temple defence with the cannons placed in the historic Jallianwala Bagh close to the Series firing with deadly effect and accuracy.

And over one and half a lac of military and para-military armed forces were in addition to enforce the above arrangement under cover of total all around curfew.

And these *Amritdhari*s were, in fact, Shikha (Sanskrit) Agni and not mere Sikh—a spark rubbed out of steel on steel, like of our very remote animistic ancestors who produced Shikha—Agni—fire by rubbing flint on flint. The Sikh is not a mere variant of Shisheya—Seekha or Seekhna etc., as earlier defined by our intellectuals. 'Shisheya' were meekless Brahmans, Boudh and Jain Monks and Bhikshus who preached Ahinsa Parma Dharma in its wrong application and handed over Bharat Maata on a platter to Yavanas.

And know ye all: the progeniture of this power was a blemishless Yug Purush Guru Gobind Singh who possessed not a grain of Kama—Trishna—selfish desire—to own victories, kingdoms and crowns but render selfless service to humanity throwing all he could call his own, in the service of his Dharma and Desha—Creed Country. Rana Pratap and Chatrapati Shivaji vanished in greed for crowns and kingdoms but Guru Gobind Singh Khalsa—his kingdom and glory like eternally facing all sleet and storm on the vast expanse of the earth and seas calling—Vasudeva Kumbhkam—Universe is my family.

The wise weigh heroic character in three dimensions—physical—human and divine. The hero figure possesses matchless physical strength and courage which make him invincible on the battlefield. He possesses virility which endows him with irresistible fascination for the opposite sex and makes him a symbol of fertility. His humanity beings him to the level of human equality and gives him human attributes and his divinity bestow in him a superhuman status and makes him an object of reverence and admiration. With all his chivalry, divinity and aesthetic acquisition Guru Gobind Singh, the inventor of Khalsa Amrit, he told his people not to call him God, unheard in the lives of earlier builders of world faiths:—

Ja ham ko Pramashwar uchero hain.

Tay sabh narak kund mein paray hain.

Those who call me God They shall fall into the pit of hells.

Mainhawn Paramapurakh ko daasa.

Dekhan aayo gagat tumaasa I am a slave of the primeval God.

I am come the world to scan And how this Parmapurakh whom Guru Nanak refers in 'Mool Mantra' in his Jap, the very first para of the Sikh Gospel:—

This Purakha—Pursha is Absolute as defined in a hymn from the Rig Veda Sahamta in varying interpretations:—

Man is Purusha—the Person. Pur-usha—the dawn in the city.

He is filled with light, Puru-sha—filled with wonder and eternal happiness.

Pu-rusha—whose passions are purified.

Purusha—word so fertile in resonance while a musical theme developed by a skillful musician keeps unfolding its three kallidosocopic syllables in a never ending play in the image of creation itself.

Such is a man that primordial and eternal principle imminent in thousand heads, a thousand eyes, and a thousand feet. Master of immortality, sacrificer Sacrifices and its object, origin and end of all, that is, Absolute (Ghaib-ul-Ghaib—War-ul-Waraa)

And that Parma-Purukh and Guru Gobind Singh were in one inseparable unison a Swami and a daasa.

And in umpteen moments in my deep reverie, it simply baffles me to ponder over the thought as to how the call of the peerless Yug Purush Guru Gobind Singh reached one and all members of that mammoth congregation, said to be about 80,000 men born and bred in distant geographical locations and dialects gathered from nothing but in simple devotion from Lahore, Hastinapur, Bidar, Puri and Dwarka.

There were no prevalent scientifically enforced Electronic contrivances but, in fact, that super-natural thaumaturgic—Dust Daman—Crusher of the Guru had little need of them. His call of Truth did not ride at the back of the wind that pass rustling beside your ears but god Maruti carried his command himself. Though that historic personality was born from the womb of his mother yet the Spirit of his Father—Prabhu—Purveyer—Pervadgaar—who ordained his birth on the surface of this land for His holy mission:—

Jab aaye Prabhu ko bhaeyo Janam dharaa jag aaye

When I received the Lord's command Forthwith I was born in this land.

Carried out what He desired. And there was no two words that Guru Gobind Singh's every deed on the surface of this earth was a marvel—supernatural. Even the worst critic of this earth was a marvel—supernatural. Even the worst critic of the Sikhism, and the Gurus, Swami Dayanand, has written of him in his "Satyarthh Prakash"—Gospel of the Aryasmaj as "Guru Gobind Singh was the bravest and the valourous."

His call was, in truth, Soor-e-Israfeel—clarion of Arch-Angel Israfeel, a sound which shall awake the dead from the graves on the Day of Resurrection, out of their sleep in Barzakh—the span of life from the hour of death to the of awakening hour to render the account of one's deeds in mundane life. (Qura'n—VI:74). (I curtail my portrayal of Islamic credel belief on Soor-e-Israfeel and Barzakh otherwise my this service shall be denied its end).

Just imagine our present leadership whose voice, hardly ever truth perception of vision fail to locate a loudspeaker dancing attendance in their front, what the audience talk at the back is not audible to them.

And who would deny, scanning through the history of the great Guru's pre-period, that the Hindus were not awaiting clarion call to awaken them from their Barzakh and bask in the warmth of their ancient glorious heritage.

The feelings of this humble scribe are that in the extent of his scant possibility he has endeavoured to place before his wise readers the necessity and what was the Sikh Khalsa Pahur—Pahul—Amrit, the mysteriously mystic potion bestowed by Guru Gobind Singh (1666-1708 A.D.), tenth Guru of the Sikh faith on the first day of Baisaakh—Thursday Chitra Sudi 1755 Bikrmi or Marv 30th., 1699 Anti Domini Sitting on the hills of Anandpur Sahib, penetrating and permeating into the very physique and psyche of the people transformed the cowards into the heroes. I have also hinted earlier that this evanescent composition of five elements of nature earth, water, air, fire and ether—Panchbhuta—we call man has been evaluated to be a born sinner from the womb of his mother from the very beginning of the dawn of mankind. All the wisdom encapsuled into the umpteen scriptures of all the world faiths can not redeem the man from this sin till such a special or specific rite is gone through to wash him of the born-sin and he is brought into Punar Janam—Rebirthship or to be plain drawn into the orbit of a chosen faith for him. Infusion of the sense of patriotism and chivalry was the novel experiment of Guru Gobind Singh—Kalgian Wala—Faujhn Wala—Bajjan Wala of the Khalsa.

I commence with the cry of Upanishadic Rishis the originator of all human wisdom, who long to reach the Ultimate Reality, the Ultimate Immortality:—

Asata ma sat gammeya

Tamassa ma jyotir gammeya Nirtyar ma amityor gammaya.

Lead me from unreal to the Real Lead me from darkness to the Light

Lead me from mortality to the Immortality.

And believe me these lines are the seed of the umbrageous tree of our universe.

The great saints and seers of the hoary past have uttered and purveyed mankind with truths of universal applicability and unalterability irrespective of the passages of time and viriability of geo-graphical situation, equally fall and re-emergence of numberless human civilisation, big or small. But it is an irrefutable verity that in the words of the world's accredited historian Arnold Toynbee—A Study of History—The New One Volume—Illustrated page 337) each religion or civilisation could not disengage themselves from the matrix of the earlier religious traditions.

Yet each religion in the orbit of its feasibility potential have invented and laid certain practices and have given the scriptural sanctity to avoid their divorce by their faithful. And the customs for such a Divijyata-Rebirth very from faith to faith.
